

You're Getting Married

Thank you for considering me to preserve your wedding day.

There is something timeless about a wedding day—the moment two people choose one another, surrounded by the people who helped shape them. Family is one of life's greatest gifts, and in choosing each other, you are also choosing to intertwine your families, histories, and futures.

That is what draws me to weddings.

Not just the romance, but the laughter, the quiet glances, the embraces from grandparents, and the presence of chosen family gathered in one place.

My own relationships—both by blood and by choice—have shaped how I see the world. Because of that, when I film a wedding, I'm not simply capturing a moment. I'm preserving a legacy of connection, emotion, and celebration. Not only the best day of your life, but the sound of your mother's voice, the laughter of your closest cousin, the familiar embrace of your best friend.

To be entrusted with your story is an honor I hold with care. I am here to transform it into something timeless—something that feels deeply, unmistakably like you.

This is more than a film.

It is an heirloom.

A legacy.

Further

How do I book your services?

Commissions are secured through a signed agreement and a retainer.

When will we receive our videos?

Films are delivered within 2–4 months, with rush delivery available upon request.

Can we choose the music for our videos?

I encourage couples to share their favorite songs, and I'll do my best to incorporate them, ensuring licensing requirements are met. However due to copyright laws, I will be choosing most of the music.

Will we meet before the wedding?

Absolutely! I love meeting my couples—either in person or over Zoom—to get to know you, understand your vision, and answer any questions you may have. It helps me capture your day in a way that feels true to you.

Do you offer drone footage?

Yes, drone footage is available depending on location, weather, and venue permissions. If aerial views are important to you, let's talk early so I can plan accordingly.
